

Chemistry Literature

SN2 reactions are bimolecular nucleophilic substitutions. They proceed via a single concerted step.

Polar aprotic solvents like DMF favor SN2 reactions.

Example: Ethyl bromide with sodium cyanide in DMF yields propanenitrile.